THE EARLY GOVERNMENT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Scattered through the New Hampshire Registers and in several standard historical publications there are partial lists of the governors and the councillors of the province of New Hampshire. These articles contain many errors, and collectively do not present a full or a correct exhibit of the early government of the province. The following article has been carefully prepared, and is designed to name in order of succession the several governors and councillors who gave direction to public affairs and were clothed with executive functions.

For several years the early settlements in New Hampshire had no general government. The four towns, Dover, Portsmouth, Exeter, and Hampton, were independent communities, each maintaining a municipal and an ecclesiastical jurisdiction. This simple plan of government very naturally was a reproduction of the forms with which the settlers had been familiar in the English towns from which they came. Desiring a government of more stability, and one calculated to afford them better protection, the people of New Hampshire at their suggestion were admitted, about 1641, under the government and protection of Massachusetts, and became a part of Norfolk county. This arrangement, convenient to the people of New Hampshire and agreeable to the people of both colonies, was continued until 1679-'80, when New Hampshire was severed from Massachusetts, and organized as a separate royal province.

I. ADMINISTRATION of John Cutt, President, and Richard Waldron, Deputy President.

The commission of President Cutt, from Charles II, dated September 18, 1679, and published January 22, 1679-'80, was vacated by his death March 27, 1681.

The councillors named in the royal commission were Richard Martyn, William Vaughan, Thomas Daniel of Portsmouth; John Gilman of Exeter, Christopher Hussey of Hampton, and Richard Waldron of Dover.

At the organization of the new government, January 22, 1679-'80, the president and council elected additional members,—Elias Stileman of Great Island (now Newcastle and then a part of Portsmouth), Samuel Dalton of Hampton, and Job Clements of Dover. The first two qualified on the day of their election; the last, February 16 following. Robert Mason, proprietor of the province, was appointed by the king's mandamus October 1, 1680, and admitted to the council December 30 following.

On the death of President Cutt, Deputy President Waldron entered upon the presidency, and filled the office until the publication of the commission of Lieutenant-governor Cranfield, October 4, 1682.

The accession of the deputy president was followed by the election of Richard Waldron, Jr., to the council, April 5, 1681. Mr. Dalton died August 22, 1681, and Anthony Nutter was chosen to fill the vacancy. His councillorship ended with this administration. Mr. Stileman was appointed deputy president October 4, 1681.

II. ADMINISTRATION of Edward Cranfield, Lieutenant-governor, and Walter Barefoote, Deputy Governor.

Lieutenant-governor Cranfield's commission, from Charles II, was dated May 9, 1682; published October 4 following; and terminated by his departure from the province May 16, 1685.

The councillors named in his commission were Robert Mason, proprietor, Richard Waldron of Dover, Thomas Daniel, William Vaughan, Richard Martyn, John Gilman, Elias Stileman, Job Clements, Walter Barefoote, and Richard Chamberlain.

Mr. Waldron and Mr. Martyn were suspended from the council by the lieutenant-governor directly on the inauguration of his administration, and were reinstated on the 14th of November following. They were suspended a second time in 1683, and with them Mr. Vaughan, Mr. Gilman, and Mr. Stileman. The same year, Mr. Daniel and Mr. Clements died. Four of these vacancies were filled in 1683 by the election of John Hinckes, Robert Elliot, Nathaniel Fryer, and Edward Randolph. The remaining three, in 1684, by the election of Robert Wadleigh, Francis Champernoon, and James Sherlock. Mr.

Randolph returned to England in 1683, the year of his election. Fryer was suspended in 1684, and the vacancy filled by the election of Henry Green in 1685.

Cranfield, though commissioned lieutenant-governor, is often styled governor in the records of his time, and so addressed in petitions and other papers.

Deputy Governor Barefoote received his appointment in 1683. Taking up the administration where Lieutenant-governor Cranfield left it May 16, 1685, he was superseded May 25, 1686, by the commission of Joseph Dudley as president of New England.

III. ADMINISTRATIONS of Joseph Dudley, President, and Sir Edmund Andros, Governor, of New England.

President Dudley's commission, from James II, was dated October 8, 1685. He assumed the government May 25, 1686. His administration terminated December 30, 1686, on the arrival of Sir Edmund Andros, who had been commissioned governor of New England on the 3d day of June preceding.

Of the seventeen councillors named in President Dudley's commission, New Hampshire furnished two—Robert Mason and John Hinckes.

Governor Andros's commission, from James II, was published "At a Council held in Boston, New England, on Thursday, December 30, 1686," and terminated April 18, 1689, by his informal commitment by the Boston revolutionists. At the close of the revolutions in England and Massachusetts, the people of New Hampshire found themselves "destitute of government," and for the interval until orders should arrive from the new home government they adopted again the township method of their earliest settlements. This plan was continued until August 13, 1692, when Lieutenant-governor John Usher assumed the administration, the governor, Samuel Allen, having not yet arrived in the province.

IV. ADMINISTRATION of Samuel Allen, Governor, and John Usher and William Partridge, Lieutenant-governors; and President John Hinckes and the Council.

Governor Allen's commission, from William III, was dated March 1, 1692, and published September 15, 1698.

In the same commission, his son-in-law, John Usher, was named as lieutenant-governor. He assumed the administration of the government August 13, 1692, and continued at its head until the publication of the commission of Lieutenant-governor Partridge, December 14, 1697, though he does not appear to have performed any official act under the above commission after November 3, 1696. From this date to the inauguration of Lieutenant-governor Partridge the government was administered by John Hinckes, president, and the council.

The councillors named in Governor Allen's instructions were John Usher, lieutenant-governor, John Hinckes, Nathaniel Fryer, Thomas Graffort, Peter Coffin, Henry Green, Robert Elliot, John Gerrish, John Walford, and John Love.

Mr. Graffort, Mr. Gerrish, Mr. Walford, and Mr. Love never sat in this council, so that the board consisted, in fact, of but five members besides the lieutenant-governor, while in the governor's instructions nine were named, and by his commission seven were required and five made necessary to a quorum. The requisite number was kept good by the appointment of Nathaniel Weare sometime between August 13 and September 29, 1692, and by the admission, on the latter date, of William Vaughan and Richard Waldron (2d) who, "Mr. Weare being out of the province, were added for the emergency of affairs occasioned by the French and Indian enemys" (Council Book II, p. 5). They qualified the 3d of October following.

Mr. Vaughan and Mr. Waldron were suspended by Lieutenant-governor Usher, September 10, 1696. Their suspension papers and the councillors' answer are to be seen in "Miscellaneous Province and State Papers, Vol. I, p. 158." They are printed in "State Papers, Vol. XVII, p. 662." Both, however, were reinstated, and served in the subsequent administrations of President Hinckes and Lieutenant-governor Partridge.

Mr. Hinckes was president of the council. The date of his election is unknown. The records, however, show that he presided in the absence of the lieutenant-governor until January 8, 1693-'94, when, or soon after, he was suspended by the lieutenant-governor and succeeded by Nathaniel Fryer, who held the office till President Hinckes and the council, in accordance with Governor Allen's desire, "took upon them ye Government till Mr. Partridge should publish his commission" (Council Book III, p. 13).

President Hinckes and his council held their first session at Newcastle November 3, 1696. The councillors present at this session were Henry Green, Robert Elliot, Nathaniel Weare, Joseph Smith, and Kinsley Hall. Mr. Smith and Mr. Hall did not sit afterwards during this term. The rolls of subsequent daily sessions include the names of William Vaughan, Peter Coffin, and Richard Waldron (2d).

Lieutenant-governor Usher's commission was revoked and William Partridge commissioned in his place June 26, 1696. Lieutenant-governor Partridge's commission was published December 14, 1697. He acted until Governor Samuel Allen assumed the government, September 15, 1698.

The councillors for this term were John Hinckes, president, Nathaniel Fryer, Peter Coffin, Robert Elliot, Henry Green, Nathaniel Weare, William Vaughan, Richard Waldron (2d).

Governor Allen, after carrying his commission nearly seven years in England, suddenly developing a passion for the active duties of a provincial governor on the ground, set out for New Hampshire and assumed the government the 15th of September 1698; and that, too, knowing that a commission antedating his own departure from home by more than a year had been issued to the Earl of Bellomont for the same office.

Mr. Coffin and Mr. Weare desired a dismissal from the board January 6, 1698-'99, on the passage of a resolution acknowledging John Usher's right to sit as councillor. Mr. Weare, however, was forbidden by Governor Allen "to depart without leave upon his peril." Mr. Elliot withdrew from the council November 29, 1698, after Joseph Smith was admitted and Governor Allen "declared John Usher was one of the council." On the admission of Kinsley Hall, one of Usher's appointees, December 13, 1698, Elliot refused to sit longer. This action of Elliot was supplemented January 27, 1698-'99, by his formal suspension from the council by Governor Allen. Sampson Sheafe was admitted January 7, 1698-'99, and Peter Weare, the 25th of February succeeding. The records credit Councillor Peter Weare with but two days of active service—the day of his admittance and the 13th of March following.

V. ADMINISTRATION of Richard, Earl of Bellomont, Governor, and William Partridge, Lieutenant-governor.

The Earl of Bellomont held commissions, from William III, as governor of New York, of Massachusetts Bay, and of New Hampshire. The last was dated June 18, 1697; published July 31, 1699; and terminated by death March 5, 1701. From his inauguration to the 17th of August following, the governor's meetings with the council and assembly were constant, but were not continued afterwards.

On the death of Bellomont, Lieutenant-governor Partridge became the head of the administration, and held the position until the inauguration of Governor Joseph Dudley, July 13, 1702, in whose administration he continued to hold the second place until the publication of John Usher's second commission as lieutenant-governor, October 22, 1703.

The councillors were John Hinckes, Nathaniel Fryer, Peter Coffin, Robert Elliot, John Gerrish, Nathaniel Weare, William Vaughan, and Henry Green.

Mr. Weare was of Hampton. The Records of Council of August 1, 1699 say, "Nathaniel Weare, Esqr. nominated in his Majesty's Instructions to be one of the members of the Council for this Province being sent for, appeared and desired upon consideration of his age and remote living he might be dismissed from said service, which was accordingly allowed him." Mr. Green was also of Hampton. He was dismissed from the council August 7, 1699, on his own request, "in regard of his age, many infirmities and remoteness of habitation" (Journal of Council and Assembly). The vacancy was filled by the appointment of Richard Waldron (2d) August 9, 1699 (Journal of Council and Assembly). Councillor Green died August 5, 1700.

VI. ADMINISTRATION of Joseph Dudley, Governor, and William Partridge and John Usher, Lieutenant-governors.

Joseph Dudley held commissions, from Queen Anne, as governor of Massachusetts and of New Hampshire. The latter was dated April 1, 1702; published July 13, 1702; and terminated on the publication of Governor Samuel Shute's commission, October 17, 1716. He, however, discharged none of the duties of governor after George Vaughan opened his commission as lieutenant-governor, October 13, 1715.

The councillors in the administration of Governor Dudley and Lieutenant-governor Partridge were John Hinckes, Nathaniel Fryer, Peter Coffin, Robert Elliot, Nathaniel Weare, Samuel Penhallow, John Plaisted, Henry Dow, Richard Waldron (2d), John Gerrish, and George Jaffrey.

The first eight members of this council qualified on the opening of the administration, July 13, 1702. Mr. Waldron sat in the council in the forenoon of the day of Governor Dudley's inauguration, but was not present in the afternoon, when other councillors were qualified, nor again during this administration. Mr. Gerrish qualified July 21, 1702. Mr. Jaffrey qualified the next day, and was suspended by Lieutenant-governor Partridge, August 18 following. He was heard in council "in answer to the reasons of his suspension," July 2, 1703 (Council Book V, pp. 79-81).

John Usher's commission under this administration, being his second as lieutenant-governor, was dated June 14, 1703; published October 22, 1703; and terminated on the publication of the commission of Lieutenant-governor Vaughan, October 13, 1715.

The councillors in the administration of Governor Dudley and Lieutenant-governor Usher were William Partridge, John Hinckes, president, Nathaniel Fryer, Peter Coffin, William Vaughan, George Jaffrey, Henry Dow, Mark Hunking, Richard Waldron (2d), Samuel Penhallow, Robert Elliot, John Plaisted, John Gerrish, Nathaniel Weare, Winthrop Hilton, and John Wentworth.

Mr. Partridge's name appears in the councillor rolls of October 22 and 27, 1703. The latter day, on his own motion, "he being bound a voyage to England, is dismissed as being a member of this Board" (Council Book V, p. 92). Mr. Hinckes was present in council the last time April 3, 1705, when, or soon after, "he clandestinely went out of the province" (Council Book V, pp. 210, 257). Mr. Fryer was dismissed from the board November 4, 1703, on his own petition, "by reason of his old age and infirmities" (Council Book V, p. 94). He died August 13, 1705. Mr. Coffin, being "the eldest Councillor whose name is first placed in Queen Anne's Instructions to the Governour," presided over the council "in the absence of the Governour and Lieutenant-governour" (Council Book V, p. 225). He died March 21, 1715. Mr. Vaughan qualified December 13, 1705 (Journal of Council and Assembly). He sat in the council the last time March 28, 1715.

Mr. Jaffrey dying February 13, and Mr. Dow, May 6, 1707, Mark Hunking was appointed to one of these vacancies by the Queen's warrant of March 2, 1710, on the recommendation of Governor Dudley, seconded by the lords of trade, March 31, 1709. Mr. Hunking, promoted from the speakership of the house, was qualified, according to the records of the council, June 16, 1710; while the Journal of the Council and Assembly gives the date July 6, 1711. With reference to the other vacancy, no special action is recorded. "Having been recommended by Gov. Dudley for councillor in the room of John Hinckes, absentee, the Lords of Trade promoting his appointment at Court, December 20, 1705, Mr. Waldron was admitted under the Queen's warrant of March 2, 1710, and qualified the 4th of August following" (Journal of Council and Assembly). Suspended by Lieutenant-governor Usher the 21st of November following, he was admitted again, pursuant to the queen's warrant, July 6, 1711. On the 26th of April, 1715, Mr. Waldron was qualified as clerk of the council (Journal of Council and Assembly). Mr. Gerrish sat the last time August 9, 1710. He died in 1714. John Wentworth, subsequently lieutenant-governor, was appointed councillor February 14, 1711-'12, and qualified June 13, 1712, "in the room and place of Winthrop Hilton deceased" (Council Book V, p. 293), who never took his seat.

In the queen's instructions to Governor Dudley, John Weare is named as one of the council, but his name does not appear in the record of proceedings.

VII. ADMINISTRATION of Eliseus Burgess, Governor, and George Vaughan, Lieutenant-governor.

Governor Burgess was commissioned by George I, as governor of Massachusetts and of New Hampshire. The date of his commissions does not appear in the records. From his letter of July 28, 1715 to the president and council (Council Book V, p. 342), the inference is that they were issued on that day, or shortly prior. Prevailed on to resign his commissions, Colonel Burgess never came into New England. The government of New Hampshire was administered by Lieutenant-governor Vaughan from the publication of his commission, October 13, 1715, until Governor Shute's commission was opened, October 17, 1716.

The councillors were Robert Elliot, Nathaniel Weare, Richard Waldron, Samuel Penhallow, John Plaisted, Mark Hunking, and John Wentworth.

The terms of office of Councillors Elliot, Weare, and Plaisted expired with this administration.

VIII. ADMINISTRATION of Samuel Shute, Governor, and George Vaughan and John Wentworth, Lieutenant-governors.

Governor Shute held commissions from George I, to the governorship both of Massachusetts and of New Hampshire. The latter was dated June 15, 1716; published October 17, 1716; and terminated November 2, 1728, on the publication of the commission of Governor William Burnet.

Lieutenant-governor Vaughan's term expired December 7, 1717, on the publication of the commission of Lieutenant-governor John Wentworth.

The councillors in the administration of Governor Shute and Lieutenant-governor Vaughan were Samuel Penhallow, Mark Hunking, John Wentworth, Richard Gerrish, Theodore Atkinson, George Jaffrey, Shadrach Walton, Richard Wibird, Thomas Westbrook, and Thomas Phipps.

The three councillors first above named were the only members of the former board. The seven new appointees were of Portsmouth. The usage having been, from the time of President Cutt, to make up the board from different towns, King George's method of constituting the council was regarded as a questionable innovation, and as such was remonstrated against by the assembly. The new members were notified of their appointment on the day following the publication of the governor's commission. At that session, "Thoms Phipps, Esq. desired to be excused; the others accepted." Under date of October 22, 1716, the record reads, "Col. Smith desired to be excused. The others took the oaths, &c. and then took their places at the board accordingly." Mr. Penhallow was suspended by Lieutenant-governor Vaughan September 24, 1717. The proceedings were dissented from by Councillors Wentworth, Jaffrey, and Wibird. Mr. Penhallow was restored to his seat by Governor Shute, September 30, 1717, and Lieutenant-governor Vaughan was suspended. Mr. Penhallow died December 2, 1726.

Governor Shute's last appearance in the council of New Hampshire was May 11, 1722, when, or directly after, he returned to Massachusetts, where he continued to perform the duties of governor until his return to England in the early part of the year 1723. Hereupon John Wentworth, under his commission as lieutenant-governor, dated September 12, 1717, and published December 7 following, entered upon the administration of the government, and continued at its head until William Burnet published his commission, November 2, 1728.

No change appears in the membership of the council under Lieutenant-governor Wentworth prior to September 26, 1719. Under this date, the Journal of the Council and Assembly is as follows: "Whereas, by the death of sundry members of the Council, there is not a sufficient number of Councillors, Thomas Packer, Esq. was chosen a member of his Majesties Council and admitted to the board." The "sundry members" whom death had befallen are not named in the legislative records. Contemporaneous history puts the death of Richard Gerrish in the year 1717, and that of Theodore Atkinson on the 6th of May, 1719. These vacancies, some or all, seem to have been filled in the following manner: On the 11th of May, 1722 (Journal of Council and Assembly), Archibald McPheadris, and on the 9th of January, 1722-'23 (Council Book IV), John Frost, on the recommendation of Governor Shute, were admitted and qualified, subject to the approval of the king. Their appointments were ratified by King George by the issue of warrants for their admission—the one for Mr. McPheadris "dated ye 9th," the one for Mr. Frost "dated ye 10th day of July 1724." Both were laid before the council on the 26th of September following. Mr. Packer came to the council from the speakership of the house. He sat in the council the last time July 22, 1723, and died the same year. On the above 26th day of September, Jotham Odiorne was qualified on the king's warrant "dated ye 11th day of July" preceding (Council Book IV). Mr. Odiorne was representative from Newcastle at this time. His removal to the council is recorded in the "Journal of the House" under date "October 13th, 1724, P. M." On the 9th day of January 1727-'28 (Journal of Council and Assembly), "Henry Sherburne, Esq. who had been heretofore recommended home in order for His Majesty's Mandamus to be of the Council in this Province," was admitted and qualified. Mr. Westbrook and Mr. Walton, learning "that their names were not entered in the Council Book in the order of Councillors as named in His Majesty's Instructions," the former on May 20, and the latter on May 21, 1726, appealed to the lieutenant-governor to right the matter. On the 30th of June following, "the Consideration thereof was Suspended for the Space of Six months or til Gov. Shute's return" (Journal of General Assembly under above dates).

John Wentworth received from George II a commission de novo to the lieutenancy of the province, dated "ye seventeenth day of October 1727" (Miscellaneous Province and State Papers, Vol. II, p. 161).

IX. ADMINISTRATION of William Burnet, Governor, and John Wentworth, Lieutenant-governor.

Governor Burnet had commissions from George II, to the government both of Massachusetts and of New Hampshire. The records do not give the date of either. The latter was published November 2, 1728, and terminated by his death September 7, 1729.

The councillors named in Governor Burnet's instructions (Council Book IV, p. 234), were John Wentworth, Shadrach Walton, George Jaffrey, Thomas Westbrook, Richard Wibird, Archibald McPheadris, John Frost, Jotham Odiorne, Henry Sherburne, and Samuel Penhallow.

Councillors Wentworth, Walton, Jaffrey, Wibird, Odiorne, and Sherburne qualified on the day of the publication of the governor's commission. Mr. McPheadris died in the year 1729. Mr. Penhallow, it will be remembered, died under the preceding administration. The news, however, had not reached the king's court when Governor Burnet's instructions passed the Great Seal.

Of the proceedings of the Council during Governor Burnet's administration, subsequent to the day of his inauguration, no separate records have been found. The existing records of this period, so far as the council is concerned, are styled "Journal of the Council and Assembly." This association of the records of the Council and House continued until 1742.

X. ADMINISTRATION of Jonathan Belcher, Governor, and John Wentworth, and David Dunbar, Lieutenant-governors.

Mr. Belcher was the last royal governor that held commissions to the chief magistracy of both the provinces of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. His commission, from George II, as governor of New Hampshire was dated January 28, 1730; published August 25, 1730; and terminated by his dismissal from office and the publication of Benning Wentworth's first commission, December 13, 1741.

The following are the councillors that served in this administration. The list is made from the rolls heading the records of their daily sessions as found in "Records of Council" and in "Journal of General Assembly."

Shadrach Walton, president, George Jaffrey, Richard Waldron (2d), Thomas Westbrook, Richard Waldron, Jr., Richard Wibird, John Frost, Jotham Odiorne, Joshua Pierce, Benning Wentworth, Theodore Atkinson, Henry Sherburne, Joseph Sherburne, Ephraim Dennett, Ellis Huske, Benjamin Gambling, and John Rindge.

Mr. Waldron died November 30, 1730. He had been secretary of the council since 1715. On the day following his decease, his son, whom we designate as Richard Waldron (3d), was appointed by Governor Belcher to succeed his father in the secretaryship; and on the next day he was admitted and qualified as councillor, to which office the governor had nominated him in place of Mr. Westbrook, "who had removed his residence from this province into the county of York" (Journal of General Assembly). Mr. Waldron's name appears the first time among the councillors in the roll of February 3, 1730-'31. His appointment was ratified by the king April 4, 1732, and he was "re-admitted and confirmed" the 31st of May succeeding (Miscellaneous Province and State Papers Vol. III, p. 21.) At this stage in this administration, there were still six vacancies in the council board. Five of these were occasioned by the deaths of Samuel Penhallow in Governor Shute's administration; of Archibald McPheadris in Governor Burnet's administration; of Mr. Waldron, as above mentioned; of Lieutenant-governor John Wentworth on the 12th of December, 1730; and of Mark Hunking in the year 1731. The sixth vacancy was caused by the removal of Joseph Smith from the province, date unknown. For sometime previous to April 4, 1732, "Benjamin Gambling was of ye Board by ye immediate appointment of His Excellency to make up the number of Councillors seven." In the meantime, having been recommended to the Lords of Trade and by them recommended to the king "to supply one of the said vacancies," Mr. Gambling's appointment was ratified by the king's warrant of the above 4th of April, pursuant to which, he "was re-admitted and confirmed May ult. 1732," and was "Sworn & admitted a Councillor July 31, 1732" (Miscellaneous Province and State Papers Vol. III, pp. 21, 20). Joshua Pierce, appointed to one of these vacancies by mandamus from the king, was admitted a short time subsequent to January 15, 1732-'33, as appears from correspondence between himself and Governor Belcher in Provincial Papers Vol. IV, p. 629. Benning Wentworth was appointed to another of these vacancies by mandamus of Queen Caroline dated the 5th day of September 1732 (Miscellaneous Province and State Papers Vol. III, p. 24); and by mandamus of the same date (Miscellaneous Papers Vol. III, p. 25), the Queen appointed Theodore Atkinson in the room of Joseph Smith above named. The warrants for Mr. Wentworth and Mr. Atkinson were laid before the council January 1, 1733-'34. Being representatives at that time and not on the best terms with the governor, they did not accept, but were admitted the following session, October 12. Mr. Wibird died in October 1732. "In his room," Joseph Sherburne was "Sworn & admitted Jany. 1st, 1733-'34," on the king's warrant dated the 20th day of August preceding (Miscellaneous Papers Vol. III, p. 29). Mr. Frost died February 25, 1732-'33. "In his room" Ellis Huske, appointed by warrant of the king dated the 21st of August 1733, was "Sworn and admitted Jany. 1st 1733-'34" (Miscellaneous Papers Vol. III, p. 30). Mr. Gambling dying September 1, 1737, John Rindge was admitted "in his room," November 17, 1738, on the king's mandamus of July 22 preceding. Mr. Rindge died November 6, 1740. "In his room" Richard Wibird (2d) was qualified July 9, 1741, on the king's warrant of the 29th of April preceding (Miscellaneous Papers Vol. III, p. 91).

Immediately after the death of Lieutenant-governor John Wentworth, David Dunbar was "commissioned in his room" February 27, 1731. Mr. Dunbar did not possess the friendship or even the good opinion of Governor Belcher, his superior in office. There is a record of his presence in the Council at Portsmouth July 1, 1731, but during the remainder of this administration Shadrach Walton, the senior councillor, presided in the absence of the governor.

On the thirtieth day of November 1733, George II, thinking it for His Royal Service that all the Surveyors General of Customs in America should be admitted to sit and vote in the respective Councils of the several Islands and Provinces within their Districts as Councilors Extraordinary, issued instructions to Governor Belcher constituting and appointing John Peagram Esqr., Surveyor-general of Customs in the Northern District of America, and the Surveyor-general of Customs within the said District for the time being, to be Councillors Extraordinary in the Province of New Hampshire, with the right to sit and vote in the Council of said Province during the time of his or their residence there. Pursuant to these instructions Mr. Surveyor Peagrum was sworn into the council June 25, 1737 (Miscellaneous Province and State Papers Vol. III, p. 31).

XI. ADMINISTRATIONS of Benning Wentworth, Governor, and John Temple, Lieutenant-governor.

Benning Wentworth was the first royal governor whose jurisdiction pertained exclusively to New Hampshire, since Governor Allen. He was twice commissioned to this office. His first commission, by George II, was dated July 3, 1741, and published December 13, 1741. His second, by George III, was dated April 4, 1761; published December 24, 1761; and terminated by his resignation and the commission of Governor John Wentworth dated August 11, 1766.

The councillors named in Governor Benning Wentworth's instructions (Council Book VI, p. 77) under his first commission, were Shadrach Walton, George Jaffrey, Jotham Odiorne, Henry Sherburne, Richard Waldron (3d), Theodore Atkinson, Joshua Pierce, Joseph Sherburne, Ellis Huske, Richard Wibird (2d), Samuel Smith, and John Downing.

The first meeting of the governor and council under this administration was on January 13, 1741-'42. The proceedings of the session are recorded in the "Journal of the Council and Assembly" of the above date. There were present, the governor, Mr. Waldron, Mr. Joseph Sherburne, Mr. Huske, Mr. Atkinson, and Mr. Wibird. On the following day, the journal says, "His Excellency and the members of his Majesty's Council took the several oaths." The same journal under date of January 21, reads, "His Majesties Council this Day took the oath as Prescribed by the Law of the Province," and further the same day, "Samuel Smith & John Downing Esqrs. were this day admitted members of his Majesties Council by his Excellency the Gov^r., they having first taken the oaths."

Mr. Walton, it is to be remembered, died in the preceding administration. It will here be seen that his death came after the issue and before the publication of the present instructions. Mr. Jaffrey was present in the council the last time, April 14, 1749. He died the 8th of May following. Mr. Odiorne died August 16, 1748; Mr. Henry Sherburne, December 29, 1757. Mr. Waldron was suspended by Gov. Wentworth, March 18, 1741-'42. This act of the governor may be accounted for quite reasonably from the councillor's opposition to His Excellency, and his attachment to the head of the preceeding administration. Mr. Waldron died the 23d of August, 1753; Mr. Pierce, February 7, 1743. Mr. Joseph Sherburne met with the council the last time, December 21, 1744, and died before the year ended (Province Papers Vol. V, p. 726). Mr. Huske sat in the council the last time, December 21, 1752. He died in 1755. Mr. Smith died May 2, 1760.

The following members were admitted to fill the vacancies in the board: Samuel Solly, on king's mandamus, April 11, 1743. Sampson Sheafe, February 18, 1745-'46, on mandamus dated April 17, 1745. His name first appears in the roll November 11, 1747. Daniel Warner, the 22d day of January 1753, on mandamus from the Lords Justices. He sat the first time the 11th of April following. Joseph Newmarch, on mandamus May 15, 1754. He took his seat the same day. Mark Hunking Wentworth and James Nevin, according to records of the council, were admitted and qualified on mandamus April 16, 1759, while in the "Journal of the Council and Assembly" their names are in the roll of April 10, the same year.

Several writers have included Joseph Blanchard among the councillors in this administration from 1741 to the date of his death, April 7, 1758. There is no record of his appointment nor of his presence in any meeting of the council. If appointed, it is reasonably certain he did not qualify or enter upon the duties of the office. The statements on this subject of Charles J. Fox in the History of Dunstable and of John B. Hill in Dunstable Bi-centennial are not sustained by the records.

Mr. Solly removed to England about 1759.

Lieutenant-governor Temple's commission was dated June 15, 1761, and published January 19, 1762. No official act of his is recorded.

The councillors named in Gov. Benning Wentworth's instructions under his second commission, were Theodore Atkinson, Richard Wibird (2d), Samuel Smith, John Downing, Sampson Sheafe, Daniel Warner, Joseph Newmarch, Mark Hunking Wentworth, James Nevin, William Temple, John Nelson, and Henry Apthorp.

Councillors Atkinson, Wibird, Downing, Warner, Newmarch, Wentworth, and Temple were present and qualified on the day of the publication of the present instructions, December 24, 1761. Mr. Smith had died after the present instructions were issued, but before they were published. Mr. Sheafe, now advanced to fourscore years, declined to qualify. Mr. Nevin first met with this council January 1, 1762. Mr. Temple last met with the board June 10, 1763; Mr. Downing, on the 6th of March, 1765; and Mr. Newmarch, the 4th of July following. Mr. Wibird died September 25, 1765. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Apthorp never served in the council.

The following mandamus councillors were admitted to fill vacancies as they occurred: Theodore Atkinson, Jr., and Nathaniel Barrell, May 25, 1763; Peter Livius, May 23, 1765; Jonathan Warner, Daniel Rindge, Daniel Peirce, and George Jaffrey, June 25, 1766; Henry Sherburne (2d), promoted from the speakership of the house, July 11, 1766.

XI. ADMINISTRATION of John Wentworth, Governor, and John Temple, Lieutenant-governor.

John Wentworth, the last royal governor of New Hampshire, was commissioned by George III. His commission was dated August 11, 1766, and published June 13, 1767.

The journals of the council and assembly during this administration are preserved, but the separate records of the council from June 30, 1767 to December 22, 1772, and from January 4, 1774 to the end of the official career of Governor Wentworth in New Hampshire are not in the state archives. The personnel of the council during this administration is partly established by contemporaneous records.

Either by a mandamus which was not recorded nor preserved, or by some other method, the council of twelve members as it existed at the close of the previous administration was continued in office. They were Theodore Atkinson, Daniel Warner, Mark Hunking Wentworth, Theodore Atkinson, Jr., Nathaniel Barrel, Peter Livius, Jonathan Warner, Daniel Rindge, Daniel Pierce, George Jaffrey, Henry Sherburne (2d), and James Nevin. Of these, Henry Sherburne died March 30, 1767, after the date of the commission of the governor, but before his return to New Hampshire. Nathaniel Barrel retired from the council in the autumn of 1767. James Nevin died February 6, 1769.

These vacancies were filled by the appointment of Daniel Rogers, Peter Gilman, and Thomas Westbrook Waldron. Theodore Atkinson Jr., died October 28, 1769, and Paul Wentworth was immediately appointed to the board. Daniel Pierce died December 4, 1773, and John Sherburne was appointed and qualified the following year. In 1774, or early in 1775, a mandamus was forwarded to the governor to admit Ammi Ruhamah Cutter to the council. On the plea that there was no vacancy, the governor refused to admit him.

At the date of his appointment, Paul Wentworth was in England. He was subsequently named on several occasions as one of the council, but he did not return to America during the administration of Governor Wentworth. Peter Livius removed from the province in the spring of 1772. There is no record of any act creating one or more vacancies in the council, but near the close of the administration Mr. Cutter was summoned to attend the meetings of the council, and John Phillips and George Boyd were appointed. In the meantime, the revolt of the province was ripening into revolution, and a majority of the council was alienated from the governor. Mr. Boyd, who became a pronounced Tory, returned from England in the summer of 1775, and immediately qualified as a councillor of the royal governor. The administration at this time was suspended, and the official career of Mr. Boyd was exceedingly brief. Mr. Cutter, when summoned to the board by the governor and Mr. Phillips, more recently appointed, refused to attend.

GOVERNMENT DURING THE REVOLUTION.

Until July, 1774, the government of New Hampshire in every branch was the government incident to a dependent province amenable to and existing by favor of the mother country. It is a slender thread that connects the government of the province with the government of the state. In the House of Representatives, May 28, 1774, it was "Voted that the Honorable John Wentworth Esq., Speaker of this House, Samuel Cutts, Esqr., John Giddinge Esqr., Clement March Esqr., Josiah Bartlett Esqr., Mr. Henry Prescott & John Pickering Esqrs., be a Committee of this House to correspond as occasion may require with the Committees that are or may be appointed by the several Houses of Representatives in our sister Colonies, and to exhibit to this House an account of such their Proceedings when Required."

From this beginning and through the action of the committee named, by progressive steps a state was formed.

This committee issued to the several towns a call for an election of delegates to be assembled at Exeter on the twenty-first day of July, 1774. This convention or Provincial Congress, as it is generally styled, was succeeded by four other conventions of a similar character. The fifth or last convention was convened December 21, 1775, and on the fifth day of January, 1776, resolved itself into a house of representatives and adopted a constitution. From that date to the present time, the government of New Hampshire under organic law has been continuous.

The journals of the third, fourth, and fifth conventions or Provincial Congresses, with a complete roll of membership, are in the state archives, and are printed in State Papers, Vol. VII. Unfortunately, the journals of the first and second conventions are not preserved. The names of the patriots who attended these two memorable bodies do not appear in the records of the state and have not been previously printed. From the newspapers of the time, we are informed that eighty-five members attended the first convention, and that one hundred and forty-four members were in attendance at the second convention. The following roll of membership has been compiled from town records. The records of a few towns have been burned or otherwise destroyed, and in one or more towns that evidently were represented, there is no record of an election.

The next convention, styled the Third Provincial Congress, convened at Exeter, April 21, 1775, and was dissolved early in May following. There is no record of a vote of adjournment, but the last entry is under date of May 2. Sixty-eight delegates were in attendance.

The Fourth Provincial Congress convened at Exeter, May 17, 1775, and continued in session until the tenth day of June. It was reassembled August 22, 1775, and remained in session until September 2, when it adjourned to October 31. It was dissolved November 15, 1775. One hundred and thirty-three members participated in the proceedings.

The Fifth Provincial Congress convened at Exeter, December 21, 1775. This memorable body will be mentioned in a later paragraph. The journals of the Third and Fourth Provincial Congresses are printed in Vol. VII, State Papers.

THE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY.

Under the temporary constitution of New Hampshire, which was in force from January 5, 1776, to June 2, 1784, the Committee of Safety was an important and necessary factor of the state government. The constitution for this period made no provision for a governor or other executive officer. To the council and house of representatives acting in concurrence or in joint assembly, were delegated both legislative and executive powers. By adjournment, several sessions were holden each year, and to continue a government without interruption, a Committee of Safety was chosen from the house and the council to administer the government whenever the legislature was not in session. For the first three years, a new Committee was generally chosen for each recess of the legislature. Later, the Committees were instructed to serve until a new Committee was chosen, and beginning with 1780. the term of service was the legislative year. Three Committees of Safety were chosen by the conventions or provincial congresses, prior to January 5, 1776, and eighteen were chosen under the temporary constitution.

A complete record of the election of the Committees of Safety has not heretofore been printed. The names and the dates of election on the following pages are probably correct and complete.

THE COUNCIL.

In the call for the Fifth Provincial Congress, it was recommended that there be a full and a free representation of the people and that the delegates be authorized to "establish such a form of government as in their judgment will best produce the happiness of the people and most effectually secure peace and good order in the province during the continuance of the present dispute between Great Britain and the Colonies." This convention assembled at Exeter, December 21, 1775.

Having adopted a temporary constitution, January 5, 1776, and in accordance with the terms of that instrument, the House of Representatives on the following day chose a coördinate branch of twelve members which they called and which subsequently has been called a council, but in the present use of the term it was a senate. Subsequently, in accordance with the new plan of government, the two branches of the legislature were elected annually by the people, and convened on the third Wednesday of December of each year.

By the terms of the constitution, five councillors were chosen from Rockingham county; two each from Strafford, Hillsborough, and Cheshire; and one from Grafton.

There are in print several exhibits of the council under the temporary constitution. Several of these tables omit entirely the council which convened December 17, 1783, and was dissolved June 2, 1784, by the operation of the new or present constitution; and none of the prints present a separate view of the nine councils or senates elected during the most interesting and important period of the history of New Hampshire.

The councillors for each legislative year were as follows:

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.—Meshech Weare, Matthew Thornton, William Whipple, Josiah Bartlett, Nathaniel Folsom.

The Manual for 1893 contains an exhibit of the various national political conventions held in the United States prior to, and during the year 1892. The article aimed to give a correct presentation of the names of the candidates for president and vice-president nominated by the different political parties, and the names of the delegates from New Hampshire to each convention. It was found (too late, however, for correction), that the account of the conventions of 1872 was, in some respects, inaccurate and incomplete. It is here reprinted with the necessary corrections and additions.

Besides the three leading political conventions of the year 1872, above noticed, others were held as follows: The Labor Reform Party convened in Columbus, Ohio, the 21st day of February, and nominated David Davis, of Illinois, for president, and Joel Parker, of New Jersey, for vice-president. These candidates having declined, a Workingmen's Convention was held in Philadelphia, August 22, which nominated Charles O'Connor of New York, for president, but did not name a candidate for vice-president.

The Prohibition Party held its national convention in Columbus, Ohio, February 22, and nominated James Black, of Pennsylvania, for president, and for vice-president, John Russell, of Michigan.

The action of the regular Democratic convention in Baltimore not proving satisfactory to the entire party, the more conservative portion, known as Straight-out Democrats, held a convention in Louisville, Ky., the 3d day of September, which placed in nomination for president, Charles O'Connor, of New York, and for vice-president, Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts.

A convention without specific name, but generally known as the Anti-Grant and Anti-Greeley Convention, was held in New York on the 20th of June, which nominated William S. Groesbeck, of Ohio, for president, and Frederick L. Olmstead, of New York, for vice-president.

1. The president having taken the chair, and a quorum being present the journal of the preceding day shall be read, and any erroneous entry shall be corrected.

2. No member shall hold conversation with another during the reading of the journal, or while a member is speaking in debate.

3. Every member, rising to speak, shall address the president, and when he has finished shall sit down.

4. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, on the same day, without leave of the senate.

5. More than one member rising to speak at the same time, the president shall decide who shall speak first.

6. If any member transgress the rules of the senate, the president shall, or any member may, call him to order;—in which case the member so called to order shall sit down, and the senate, if appealed to, shall decide in the case; but if there be no appeal, the decision of the president shall be conclusive.

7. No member shall absent himself without permission from the senate.

8. A motion shall be seconded before it is debated, and if required by the president or any member, it shall be reduced to writing.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to postpone indefinitely, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall take precedence in the order in which they are arranged. And no motion to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, or to commit, being decided, shall be in order at the same stage of the bill or proposition until after an adjournment.

10. If the question under debate will admit of division, any member may have it divided; and in filling blanks, the longest time and the largest sum shall be put first.

11. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to, it shall be decided by a vote of the senate, and without debate.

12. When the yeas and nays are required, each member shall declare his assent or dissent to the question, unless for special reasons he be excused by the senate.

13. When a motion is made to shut the doors of the senate, on the discussion of any business which in the opinion of any member may require secrecy, the president shall require the gallery to be closed; and the doors shall remain closed until the subject is disposed of.

14. After a motion has been decided, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the majority, or if the senate be equally divided, any member voting on the side prevailing, to move for a reconsideration thereof, unless the bill, resolution, report, amendment, or motion on which the vote was taken, has gone from the possession of the senate; but no motion to reconsider shall be in order unless made the same day on which the vote was taken, or the next day after that on which the vote was taken, on which the senate shall be in session.

15. Before any petition or memorial address to the senate shall be received and read, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made by the member introducing the same.

16. Any member, on giving notice of asking leave to bring in a bill, shall state the nature of the bill he proposes to introduce, and at least one day's notice shall be given before a motion for leave shall be in order.

17. Every bill shall be read three times before its passage, and the president shall give notice at each time whether it be the first, second, or third reading; and no bill after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading before an adjournment.

18. All resolutions which may require the signature of the governor shall be treated in the same manner as bills.

19. When a bill shall have been read a first time and ordered to a second reading, it shall be immediately read a second time by its title, and by the president referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the senate.

20. All bills introduced in the senate, to repeal or modify an existing statute, shall refer to the act proposed to be repealed or modified by the title and session at which it was passed; and no bill shall refer to any statute by the number of the chapter of the pamphlet laws.

21. The senate may resolve itself into a committee of the whole at any time on motion made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole, the president shall leave the chair, and appoint a chairman to preside in committee. The president may at any time name any member to perform the duties of the chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond one legislative day.

22. The last question, upon the second reading of a bill or resolution, shall always be, Shall it be read a third time?—and no amendment shall be received or discussed on the third reading of any bill or resolution unless by consent of sixteen members present, but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of a bill or resolution, to move its commitment; and should such commitment take place, and an amendment be reported, the bill or resolution shall again be read a second time, and considered as in committee of the whole.

23. The titles of bills, and such parts thereof as may be affected by proposed amendments, shall be entered on the journals.

24. All bills, resolutions, and addresses, after passing the senate shall be signed by the president; and all warrants and other processes issued by order of the senate shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

25. The following standing committees, to consist of five members each, shall be appointed at the commencement of any session, with leave to report by bill or otherwise: A committee on the judiciary; a committee on incorporations; a committee on labor; a committee on military affairs; a committee on roads, bridges, and canals; a committee on claims; a committee on railroads; a committee on banks; a committee on agriculture; a committee on manufactures; a committee on elections; a committee on education; a committee on finance; a committee on state prison and industrial school; a committee on asylum for the insane; a committee on revision of the laws; a committee on towns and parishes; a committee on Soldiers' Home; and a committee on fisheries and game.

26. All committees shall be appointed by the president, unless a member request that the appointment shall be by ballot, in which case it shall be so done.

27. When the senate shall concur with the house of representatives in the appointment of a joint committee, consisting of not more than five members of the house, two members shall be added on the part of the senate; but when more than five, three members of the senate shall be added.

28. Messages shall be sent to the house of representatives by the clerk of the senate.

29. Messages from the governor or house of representatives may be received at all times, except when the senate is engaged in putting the question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting the ballots, or in reading the journal.

30. All questions shall be put by the president, and each member of the senate shall signify his assent or dissent by answering yea or nay. If the president doubts, or a division is called for, the senate shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The president shall then rise and state the decision of the senate.

31. No person except the members of the executive, or members of the house of representatives and its officers, shall be admitted within the bar of the senate, except by invitation of the president, or some member with his consent.

32. The senate shall adjourn to meet at eleven o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon of each day unless the senate shall otherwise order.

33. Motions to adjourn shall be decided without debate.

34. No standing rule of the senate shall be suspended unless two thirds of the members present vote in favor thereof, and no rule shall be rescinded unless one day's notice of the motion has been given and two thirds of those present vote therefor.

35. Every bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the senate, which has been favorably reported upon by the committee having it in charge, shall be declared by the president laid upon the table, and the clerk directed to procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the senate; and that when said bills and joint resolutions are printed and distributed, the clerk shall cause a copy of the same to be laid on the president's table, and they shall be taken up in their order without motion, and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid on the table. And every bill or joint resolution so introduced shall be headed senate bill, or joint resolution, as the case may be.

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "As many as are of opinion that [as the case may be] say Aye;" and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Those of a contrary opinion say No." If the speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the house shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. ber so called to order shall immediately sit down, and the question of order shall then be distinctly stated from the chair; and in all cases where a member shall be called to order for uttering disrespectful words, upon the request of any member the words objected to shall be reduced to writing by the member so calling to order; after which the member so called to order may explain, and the question shall be open to debate, as in other cases, and decided by the speaker, whose decision shall be submitted to unless an appeal be made to the house, by a member, in which case the only question shall be "Is the speaker's decision correct?" which shall be decided without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, and the case may require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the house.

14. In all cases the member first rising shall speak first. When two members rise at the same time, the speaker shall name the person to speak.

No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly interested; nor in any case where he was not present when the question was put; nor sit upon any committee when he is directly interested in the question under consideration. In case of such interest of a member of a committee, the fact shall be reported to the house, and another person substituted on that question in his place.

18. Every member who shall be in the house when a question is put shall give his vote, unless the house, for special reason, shall excuse him.

19. No motion shall be debated until the same shall be seconded and stated from the chair; and when a motion shall be made and seconded, it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the speaker or any member, and delivered at the table, and read by the speaker, before the same shall be debated.

No petition shall be received by the house unless it be presented by a member thereof, and upon motion made for that purpose; nor until the substance of said petition be concisely minuted, and the name of the member, and the town he represents, recorded upon the back thereof; and it shall be the duty of the speaker, whenever any motion relative to a petition is to be stated to the house, to state, in the first place, the substance of the petition as minuted on the back thereof.

21. After a motion is stated by the speaker, it shall be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn at any time before an amendment.

24. On the previous question no member shall speak more than once without leave; and all incidental questions of order, arising after a motion for the previous question shall be decided without debate, excepting on appeal, and on such appeal no member shall be allowed to speak more than once without leave of the house. No member shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes on the motion, nor on appeal on questions of order.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order till after adjournment, but the main question shall be left before the house and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session except by unanimous consent.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the house.

29. No new motion shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

30. No vote shall be reconsidered, unless the motion for reconsideration be made by a member who voted with the majority, nor unless the notice of such motion be given on the same day on which the vote passed, or on the next day on which the house shall be in session, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock.

ond reading; and upon the second reading, if not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, a time shall be assigned for a third reading. When a bill shall have been introduced by a member upon leave, or by message from the senate, and read a first time, if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be read a second time?" And if ordered to a second reading it shall immediately be read a second time by its title, and be by the speaker referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the house. No bill, after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading until after an adjournment. The time assigned for the second and third readings of bills and resolutions shall be eleven o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

49. Upon bills and resolutions committed to a committee of the whole house, the bill or resolution shall first be read throughout by the clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble of the bill to be last considered; the body of the bill or resolution shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee and so reported to the house. After report, the bill or resolution shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to pass it to a third reading be taken.

50. The rules of proceeding in the house shall be observed in committee of the whole house, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking.

51. No standing rule or order of the house shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; nor suspended, unless by a vote therefor of two thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by actual count, when any member shall request the same.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

52. The speaker shall call for petitions from members of the house. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports, first from the standing and then from the select committees, shall be called for and disposed of. And the above business shall be done in no other part of the day, except by permission of the house.

53. The unfinished business in which the house was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, if called for by any member, shall have the preference over all other business except the general order of the day; and no motion, or any other business except the general order of the day, shall be received without special leave of the house, until the former is disposed of.

PART FIRST.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

ARTICLE 1. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

ART. 2. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights; among which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing, and protecting property; and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

ART. 3. When men enter into a state of society they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society in order to insure the protection of others; and without such an equivalent the surrender is void.

ART. 4. Among the natural rights, some are in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or conceived for them. Of this kind are the RIGHTS OF CONSCIENCE.

ART. 5. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, restrained in his person, liberty, or estate for worshiping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience, or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion, provided he doth not disturb the public peace, or disturb others in their religious worship.

ART. 6. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay in the hearts of men the strongest obligations to due subjection, and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society by the institution of the public worship of the DEITY and of public instruction in morality and religion, therefore, to promote these important purposes, the people of this state have a right to empower, and do hereby fully empower, the legislature to authorize, from time to time, the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies within this state to make adequate provision, at their own expense, for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality. Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies shall at all times have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person of any one particular religious sect or denomination shall ever be compelled to pay toward the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect, or denomination. And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves quietly and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law. And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

ART. 7. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right pertaining thereto which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

ART. 8. All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

ART. 9. No office or place whatsoever in government shall be hereditary, the abilities and integrity requisite in all not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

ART. 10. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men, therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to, reform the old or establish a new government. The doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

ART. 11. All elections ought to be free; and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office.

ART. 12. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property. He is, therefore, bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service, when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him or applied to public uses without his own consent or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they or their representative body have given their consent.

ART. 13. No person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

ART. 14. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely and without any denial; promptly, and without any delay; conformably to the laws.

ART. 15. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime or offense until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him, or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself, to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense by himself and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled, or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers or the laws of the land.

ART. 16. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense; nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

ART. 17. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts in the vicinity where they happen is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed, except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and, upon their report, the legislature shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

ART. 18. All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offenses. For the same reason, a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust, the true design of all punishment being to reform, not to exterminate, mankind.

ART. 19. Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Therefore, all warrants to search suspected places or arrest a person for examination or trial, in prosecutions for criminal matters, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation, and if the order, in a warrant to a civil officer, to make search in suspected places or to arrest one or more suspected persons or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the persons or objects of search, arrest, or seizure; and no warrant ought to be issued but in cases and with the formalities prescribed by law.

ART. 20. In all controversies concerning property and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practised, and except in cases in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars and title of real estate is not concerned, the parties have a right to trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in cases arising on the high seas and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

ART. 21. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of trial by jury, great care ought to be taken that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to be fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

ART. 22. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state; it ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

ART. 23. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes or the punishment of offenses.

ART. 24. A well-regulated militia is the proper, natural, and sure defense of a state.

ART. 25. Standing armies are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be raised or kept up without the consent of the legislature.

ART. 26. In all cases and at all times, the military ought to be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

ART. 27. No soldier, in time of peace, shall be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and, in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

ART. 28. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost or duty shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people, or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

ART. 29. The power of suspending the laws or the execution of them ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

ART. 30. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate in either house of the legislature is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution in any other court or place whatsoever.

ART. 31. The legislature shall assemble for the redress of public grievances and for making such laws as the public good may require.

ART. 32. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble and consult upon the common good, give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

ART. 33. No magistrate or court of law shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines, or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

ART. 34. No person can, in any case, be subjected to law martial or to any pains or penalties by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

ART. 35. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well, subject, however, to such limitations on account of age as may be provided by the constitution of the state; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing law.

ART. 36. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension should be granted but in consideration of actual services; and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

ART. 37. In the government of this state, the three essential powers thereof—to wit, the legislative, executive, and judicial—ought to be kept as separate from, and independent of, each other as the nature of a free government will admit or as is consistent with that chain of connection that binds the whole fabric of the constitution in one indissoluble bond of union and amity.

ART. 38. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution and a constant adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, and all the social virtues, are indispensably necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and good government. The people ought, therefore, to have a particular regard to all those principles in the choice of their officers and representatives; and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates an exact and constant observance of them in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of government.

PART SECOND.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

ARTICLE 1. The people inhabiting the territory formerly called The Province of New Hampshire do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other to form themselves into a free, sovereign, and independent body politic, or state, by the name of THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

GENERAL COURT.

ART. 2. The supreme legislative power within this state shall be vested in the senate and house of representatives, each of which shall have a negative on the other.

ART. 3. The senate and house shall assemble biennially, on the first Wednesday of January, and at such other times as they may judge necessary, and shall dissolve and be dissolved seven days next preceding the said first Wednesday of January biennially, and shall be styled THE GENERAL COURT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

ART. 4. The general court shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record or other courts, to be holden in the name of the state, for the hearing, trying, and determining all manner of crimes, offenses, pleas, processes, complaints, actions, causes, matters and things whatsoever, arising or happening within this state, or between or concerning persons inhabiting, or residing, or brought within the same, whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the crimes be capital or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal, or mixed, and for the awarding and issuing execution thereon, to which courts and judicatories are hereby given and granted full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy or depending before them.

ART. 5. And, further, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court, from time to time, to make, ordain, and establish all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, ordinances, directions, and instructions, either with penalties or without, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they may judge for the benefit and welfare of this state and for the governing and ordering thereof and of the subjects of the same, for the necessary support and defense of the government thereof; and to name and settle biennially, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling of, all civil officers within this state, such officers excepted the election and appointment of whom are hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the sev. eral duties, powers, and limits of the several civil and military officers of this state, and the forms of such oaths or affirmations as shall be respectively administered unto them for the execution of their several offices and places, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution; and also to impose fines, mulcts, imprisonments, and other punishments; and to impose and levy proportional and reasonable assessments, rates, and taxes upon all the inhabitants of, and residents within, the said state, and upon all estates within the same, to be issued and disposed of by warrant, under the hand of the governor of this state for the time being, with the advice and consent of the council, for the public service, in the necessary defense and support of the government of this state and the protection and preservation of the subjects thereof, according to such acts as are or shall be in force within the same. Provided, that the general court shall not authorize any town to loan or give its money or credit, directly or indirectly, for the benefit of any corporation having for its object a dividend of profits, or in any way aid the same by taking its stock or bonds.

ART. 6. And, while the public charges of government, or any part thereof, shall be assessed on polls and estates in the manner that has heretofore been practised, in order that such assessments may be made with equality, there shall be a valuation of the estates within the state taken anew once in every five years, at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.

ART. 7. No member of the general court shall take fees, be of counsel, or act as advocate in any cause before either branch of the legislature; and upon due proof thereof, such member shall forfeit his seat in the legislature.

ART. 8. The doors of the galleries of each house of the legislature shall be kept open to all persons who behave decently, except when the welfare of the state, in the opinion of either branch, shall require secrecy.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

ART. 9. There shall be, in the legislature of the state, a representation of the people, biennially elected, and founded upon the principles of equality; and, in order that such representation may be as equal as circumstances will admit, every town, or place entitled to town privileges, and wards of cities having six hundred inhabitants by the last general census of the state, taken by authority of the United States or of this state, may elect one representative; if eighteen hundred such inhabitants, may elect two representatives; and so proceeding in that proportion, making twelve hundred such inhabitants the mean increasing number for any additional representative. Provided, that no town shall be divided or the boundaries of the wards of any city so altered as to increase the number of representatives to which such town or city may be entitled by the next preceding census; and provided further, that to those towns and cities which since the last census have been divided or had their boundaries or ward lines changed, the general court, in session next before these amendments shall take effect, shall equitably apportion representation in such manner that the number shall not be greater than it would have been had no such division or alteration been made.

ART. 10. Whenever any town, place, or city ward shall have less than six hundred such inhabitants, the general court shall authorize such town, place, or ward to elect and send to the general court a representative such proportionate part of the time as the number of its inhabitants shall bear to six hundred; but the general court shall not authorize any such town, place, or ward to elect and send such representative, except as herein provided.

ART. 11. The members of the house of representatives shall be chosen biennially, in the month of November, and shall be the second branch of the legislature.

ART. 12. All persons qualified to vote in the election of senators shall be entitled to vote, within the district where they dwell, in the choice of representatives.

ART. 13. Every member of the house of representatives shall be chosen by ballot, and, for two years, at least, next preceding his election, shall have been an inhabitant of this state; shall be, at the time of his election, an inhabitant of the town, parish, or place he may be chosen to represent; and shall cease to represent such town, parish, or place immediately on his ceasing to be qualified as aforesaid.

ART. 14. The presiding officers of both houses of the legislature shall severally receive out of the state treasury as compensation in full for their services, for the term elected, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, and all other members thereof seasonably attending and not departing without license, the sum of two hundred dollars, exclusive of mileage: provided, however, that when a special session shall be called by the governor, such officers and members shall receive for attendance an additional compensation of three dollars per day for a period not exceeding fifteen days, and the usual mileage.

ART. 15. All intermediate vacancies in the house of representatives may be filled up from time to time in the same manner as biennial elections are made.

ART. 16. The house of representatives shall be the grand inquest of the state, and all impeachments made by them shall be heard and tried by the senate.

ART. 17. All money bills shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

ART. 18. The house of representatives shall have power to adjourn themselves, but no longer than two days at a time.

ART. 19. A majority of the members of the house of representatives shall be a quorum for doing business, but, when less than two thirds of the representatives elected shall be present, the assent of two thirds of those members shall be necessary to render their acts and proceedings valid.

ART. 20. No member of the house of representatives or senate shall be arrested or held to bail on mesne process during his going to, returning from, or attendance upon, the court.

ART. 21. The house of representatives shall choose their own speaker, appoint their own officers, and settle the rules of proceedings in their own house, and shall be judge of the returns, elections, and qualifications of its members, as pointed out in this constitution. They shall have authority to punish by imprisonment every person who shall be guilty of disrespect to the house, in its presence, by any disorderly and contemptuous behavior, or by threatening or ill-treating any of its members, or by obstructing its deliberations; every person guilty of a breach of its privileges in making arrests for debt, or by assaulting any member during his attendance at any session; in assaulting or disturbing any one of its officers in the execution of any order or procedure of the house; in assaulting any witness or other person ordered to attend by, and during his attendance of, the house, or in rescuing any person arrested by order of the house, knowing them to be such.

ART. 22. The senate, governor, and council shall have the same powers in like cases, provided, that no imprisonment by either for any offense exceed ten days.

ART. 23. The journals of the proceedings and all public acts of both houses of the legislature shall be printed and published immediately after every adjournment or prorogation, and, upon motion made by any one member, the yeas and nays upon any question shall be entered on the journal, and any member of the senate or house of representatives shall have a right, on motion made at the same time for that purpose, to have his protest or dissent, with the reasons, against any vote, resolve, or bill passed, entered on the journal.

SENATE.

ART. 24. The senate shall consist of twenty-four members, who shall hold their office for two years from the first Wednesday of January next ensuing their election.

ART. 25. And, that the state may be equally represented in the senate, the legislature shall, from time to time, divide the state into twenty-four districts, as nearly equal as may be without dividing towns and unincorporated places; and, in making this division, they shall govern themselves by the proportion of direct taxes paid by the said districts, and timely make known to the inhabitants of the state the limits of each district.

ART. 26. The freeholders and other inhabitants of each district, qualified as in this constitution is provided, shall, biennially, give in their votes for a senator at some meeting holden in the month of November.

ART. 27. The senate shall be the first branch of the legislature, and the senators shall be chosen in the following manner, viz.: every male inhabitant of each town, and parish with town privileges, and places unincorporated, in this state, of twenty-one years of age and upward, excepting paupers and persons excused from paying taxes at their own request, shall have a right, at the biennial or other meetings of the inhabitants of said towns and parishes, to be duly warned and holden biennially, forever, in the month of November, to vote, in the town or parish wherein he dwells, for the senator in the district whereof he is a member.

ART. 28. Provided, nevertheless, that no person shall be capable of being elected a senator who is not of the age of thirty years, and who shall not have been an inhabitant of this state for seven years immediately preceding his election; and, at the time thereof, he shall be an inhabitant of the district for which he shall be chosen.

ART. 29. And every person qualified as the constitution provides shall be considered an inhabitant, for the purpose of electing and being elected into any office or place within this state, in the town, parish, and plantation where he dwelleth and hath his home.

ART. 30. And the inhabitants of plantations and places unincorporated, qualified as this constitution provides, who are or shall be required to assess taxes upon themselves towards the support of government, or shall be taxed therefor, shall have the same privilege of voting for senators, in the plantations, and places wherein they reside as the inhabitants of the respective towns and parishes aforesaid have. And the meetings of such plantations and places, for that purpose shall be holden biennially in the month of November, at such places respectively therein as the assessors thereof shall direct; which assessors shall have like authority for notifying the electors, collecting and returning the votes, as the selectmen and town clerks have in their several towns by this constitution.

ART. 31. The meetings for the choice of governor, council, and senators, shall be warned by warrant from the selectmen, and governed by a moderator, who shall, in the presence of the selectmen (whose duty it shall be to attend), in open meeting, receive the votes of all the inhabitants of such towns and parishes present and qualified to vote for senators; and shall, in said meetings, in presence of the said selectmen and of the town clerk in said meetings, sort and count the said votes, and make a public declaration thereof, with the name of every person voted for and the number of votes for each person; and the town clerk shall make a fair record of the same, at large, in the town book, and shall make out a fair attested copy thereof, to be by him sealed up and directed to the secretary of the state, with a superscription expressing the purport thereof; and the said town clerk shall cause such attested copy to be delivered to the sheriff of the county in which said town or parish shall lie thirty days, at least, before the first Wednesday of January, or to the secretary of the state at least twenty days before the said first Wednesday of January; and the sheriff of each county or his deputy shall deliver all such certificates by him received into the secretary's office at least twenty days before the first Wednesday of January.

ART. 32. And, that there may be a due meeting of senators on the first Wednesday of January, biennially, the governor and a majority of the council for the time being shall, as soon as may be, examine the returned copies of such records, and, fourteen days before the first Wednesday of January, he shall issue his summons to such persons as appear to be chosen senators by a majority of votes to attend and take their seats on that day: provided, nevertheless, that, for the first year, the said returned copies shall be examined by the president and a majority of the council then in office; and the said president shall, in like manner, notify the persons elected to attend and take their seats accordingly.

ART. 33. And in case there shall not appear to be a senator elected by a majority of votes for any district, the deficiency shall be supplied in the following manner, viz.: the members of the house of representatives and such senators as shall be declared elected shall take the names of the two persons having the highest number of votes in the district, and out of them shall elect, by joint ballot, the senator wanted for such district; and in this manner, all such vacancies shall be filled up in every district of the state; all vacancies in the senate arising by death, removal out of the state, or otherwise, except from failure to elect, shall be filled by a new election by the people of the district, upon the requisition of the governor, as soon as may be after such vacancies shall happen.

ART. 34. The senate shall be final judges of the elections, returns, and qualifications of their own members, as pointed out in this constitution.

ART. 35. The senate shall have power to adjourn themselves, pro-
